Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 23 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A bright start. Cloud increasing from mid-morning, but staying dry.

Today:
Early morning patchy cloud, mist and fog should soon clear to prolonged sunny spells. However, cloud will spread southwards from mid-morning and linger for much of the afternoon, although it should remain dry. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Largely dry with light winds and patchy cloud, allowing for occasional clear spells. Towards dawn, some patches of mist and fog may form in rural areas. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Friday:
Friday will be dry, with early morning mist and fog patches clearing to sunny spells. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Largely dry with warm sunny spells Saturday. Sunny spells and a few showers Sunday. A band of heavy rain and blustery winds moving eastwards overnight, clearing to heavy showers Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.